THURSDAY MORNING, JAN. 18.

A Case of Conscience—Who is to Blame?

Our readers will have noticed in the legislative reports yesterday morning, that in the organization of the two Houses, Mr., Withrow, of Greenbrier, in the House of Delegates, and in the Senato Mr. Matthews, of the same country, elected from the St Senatorial District, formally declined to qualify; and their cases was what we anticipated in our remarks ou Tuesday morning.

Mr. Burdett presented the petition and papers of Mr. Werninger, the contesting the papers of Mr. Werninger, the contesting the Papers of Mr. Hornbrook, referring the part of the Governor's message concerning the Penitentiary, to the Committee on Humane and Criminal Institutions. By Mr. Hooker, Referring to Committee on Privileges and Elections. The President announced the following standing committees:

Privileges and Elections—Slack; Burdett, Chambers, Mahon and Peck.

Indicary—Maxwell, Peck, Chapline, Burley and Slack.

Finance—Peck, Burdett, Hawkins, Chapline and Kitchen. (Mr. Peck defining the Chairmanship, the Committee on Judiciary, which was appropriately referred.

By Mr. Hornbrook, referring the part of the Governor's message concerning the Penitentiary to the Committee on Judiciary to the Committee legislative reports yesterday morning, that in the organization of the two Houses, Mr. Withrow, of Greenbrier, in the House of Delegates, and in the Senate Mr. Matthews, of the same coun-ty, elected from the 5th Senatorial Dis-trict, formally declined to quality; and that the action of the two Houses upon their cases was what we anticipated in our remarks on Tuesday morning. These gentlemen stated that they could not swearthat they had not voluntarily aided and comforted the rebellion, as the oath of office requires. The two Houses could accept nothing less, and so, of course, they could not take their seats. Under the circumstances all par-ties did right. These gentlemen being. unable to qualify, we respect their honesty in candidly admitting the fact; but we submit it is their fault, not the fault of the law. The maxim, "England expects every man to do his duty," has a ley and S broader meaning than the mere words imply. The country has a right to expect every man to be loyal and do his duty by the Government. If he is not, he is to be the sufferer by it—not the Commonwealth. These gentlemen have nobody to blame but themselves, and they have neither right to ask, nor reason to expect, that the barriers raised to protect the community can be taken down for their particular accommodation. We entertain no unkind feeling towards them, or others in a like situa-tion; but we submit that the loyal people should not be made to suffer for their mistake—admitting it to be a mistake merely. The people of Greenbrier and the 8th Senatorial District committed a and they could swear that they had not voluntarily aided the rebellion. The real difficulty is that there is no wish to elect such men; and we are compelled to believe that the pretence to the con-trary is simply an expedient to excite sympathy, We learn that Dr. Thompson, the delegate elected from Putnam, also de-clines to qualify-not, as in the other
